DEATHS. On October 2, at 2.35 a.m., Captain ROGER MARTIN, of the British barque At the Government Civil Hospital, October 1, 1896, Peter McGredor, age 36 late 1st Engineer of Chinese Revenue

Cruiser Kaipan. The publication of this issue commenced at 6 30 p.m.

The China Athil. HONGKONG, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1896.

THE Revenue of China, a subject which was exhaustively dealt with by an expert in a series of articles in the columns of the China Mail a number of years ago, articles which were subsequently reprinted in pamphlet form and which are still on sale, is receiving considerable attention in England at the present moment. Mr E. H. Parker has been using his pen industriously, and has sent one or two long letters to The Times. These letters should go far to clucidate the financial position of China. In one of his letters there is a reference to the West River which deserves passing mention. He says, 'Kwangsi would be a complete pauper were it not for the famous Wuchau customs, which effectually throttle all the trade with Hongkong and Canton, and which it should be our first care to get abolished.' Hongkong would be all the better of the persistent advocacy of writers of the standing of Mr Parker. There cannot be the slightest doubt that the opening of the West River, which implies, practically, the whole of South-west China, would prove of incalculable benefit to this Colony, and that it would lead to immense development in the foreign trade of China. But when we have superadded to exchange difficulties, the hindrances to internal transit in China, the poverty of the people, due in a measure to the rapacity of the officials and partially to the isolation of their cities from wealthier districts, and the illegal exactions levied by the mandarins on all goods passing under their notice, it is hopeless to look for any great expansion of trade. The rotten system of official administration throughout China the principal stumbling-block in way of progress, reform, and trade expansion. Before Hongkong can profit from the diplomatic opening of the West River, there must be a complete abolition of the lekin stations; but looking to the conditions under which the officials hold office it is unnatural to expect them to permit the extirpation of their chief source of revenue. China is in a condition comparable with Turkey. The Central Goinvasion of the reforming European; and off of £11,000. in the case of China, the astuteness of the native administrators has, up till recent years, been so successful in keeping clear that there is really no excuse for foreign intervention, unless the development of trade were made the pretext. The es of complications with foreign capitalists tablishment of the Imperial Maritime Customs was a great step towards reform. The postal service, guided like the Maritime Customs by trustworthy and able foreigners should be another boon, and will become the natural adjunct of the Tolegraph Administration; and if the Chinese rulers could only be persuaded to allow some able foreigner to undertake the readjustment of her financial arrangements and force are the English. If Li Hung Chang to create a class of properly qualified and is a true patriot, he will do his best to reproperly-paid officials, then there would be move the suspicion with which Englishhope of a speedy opening up of the whole men are regarded by his countrymen. country to foreign intercourse and foreign trade. Without some such arrangement it is difficult to see how the present system of squeezing can be minimised; and without the arrangement of the import and export tanffs on a satisfactory basis by the abolition of the elastic lekin duties, there can never be any appreciable expansion in the foreign trade with China. Left to their own devices, the Chinese officials now know the squeezable value of imported foreign goods, and year or two ago; but he put it off for another they bleed the importers without the voyage. notice calling the meeting, The Chairman proposed that Rule of the Rules of the Club should be altered by expunging the words 'not being Officers of the Army or Navy where such words occur in Rule 9. He said - Gentlemen, the reason for calling this extraordinary general meeting is given you in , the advertisements which have appeared in the various newspapers, and has also been given you in the notice that has just been read by the Clerk of the Course. Therefore, I presume we will take it for granted that you are acquainted with the rule. It was represented to us that the words which we are about to ask you to alter were of an objectionable mature. A meeting of the Stewards was called immediately after these representations were made to us, and the matter was thoroughly discussed. The decision we arrived at unanimously was to the effect that the words in question were objectionable and should be expunged from our rules, and this is what we are now going to ask you to do. We have found it impossible to trace how and why these words have appeared in our rules. Mr Francis, who kindly undertook to draw up these rules, is of opinion that they must have been in the rules of the Hongkong Race Fund, and hence their appearance here. On the other hand, Mr Coxon, the oldest member of the Fund, does not recollect these words in the old rules, and does recollect that officers of the army and navy were elected before as Stewards, and have acted as Stewards in the old days. But let that he as it may, the words appear in this rule; we are agreed that they ought to be expunged and the only way that they can be expunged is by adopting the present in proposing the alteration of Rule 9 as read to you by the Clerk of the Course (applause).

Mr A. Coxon bore out the Chairman's statement in regard to the old Racing Fund

Mr Master, whilst expressing his willingness to see Rule 9 altered as proposed, in a laudience could take part. The service was long speech proposed an alteration of Rule 10 so that the powers of the Stewards to elect Hon. Members as Hon. Stewards should be limited to the selection of H. E. the Governor, the Senior Naval Officer and the Senior Military Officer. If there was any technical objection to his moving that as a fresh resolution he proposed it as an amendment to the original resolution, and he asked members, while cordially welcoming military and naval officers as Stewards, to vote for his amendment as against the resolution.

The Chairman ruled that a new mooting must be called for the new resolution. Mr Master then moved his proposal as an amendment.

FUNERAL OF FLEET PAYMASTER JOHN BREMNER, R.N. The funeral of the late Fleet-Paymaster Bremner which took place yesterday afternoon at the Happy Valley was one of the largest functions of the kind seen in this Colony for many years past. Mr Bremmer had served for over two years in H.M.S. Flag-Amongst the other gentlemen present were ship Centurion, and was not only well known but generally loved and esteemed throughout the Fleet. His funeral, therefore, furnished an occasion for a mark of respect on the part of the Naval and Military Services which is 'seldom' seen in this Colony. The funeral procession left the Nawal Hospital about 5 o'clock, the body being conveyed on a gun-carriage by seamon of son. Mr D. E. Brown, Mr H. N. Mody, H.M.S. Rainbow. The pall-bearers were the Senior Lieutenant, Staff Commander, and Staff Surgeon of the Victor Emanuel, and the Senior Lieutenant, Staff Engineer, and Staff-Surgeon of the Rainbow. The chief mourners were the Fleet Paymaster of the Victor Emanuel, and the Paymaster of the Rainboar. As large a number of Officers of the Fleet were present as the necessities of duty would allow; and amongst those present in addition to those mentioned were Captain Forsyth, of the C. Anderson, Messrs E. Bischoff, D. R. Rainbore; Commander Tunnard, Victor Sassoon, Dr Noble, Messrs A. P. Nobbs, Emanuel (who was in charge of the arrangements throughout); . Commander Wyley, of the Humber, and Commander Cotesworth, of the Rattler. The cortego was very large and imposing, and was perhaps the largest seen for many years in Hongkong. There were present forty seamen from the Victor Emanuel, fifty from the Rainbow, thirty-three from the Humber, and thirty-three from the Rattler. The firing party was composed of sixty Marines from the Victor Emanuel, and twenty by a guard of the Royal Marines, and the Rifle Band (playing the Dead March), the procession left the Naval Hospital. The Officers of the Garrison and the civilian friends of the deceased had assembled at the entrance to the Hospital; and at this point it was seen the assemblage was such as to occupy nearly the entire length of the road from the Hospital to the Monument. SCHEELE AND CO. E. CHOY LOONG CHUEN. In this action, which was heard yesterday, His Lordship delivered judgment as follows :-- This was a claim of 8731.55 on two grounds. The first ground alleged was that the defendant had failed to take delivery of certain tin plates purchased by him from the plaintiffs, and the second cause of action was that this $731.55 was due on account stated. After a short time the first cause of action was abandoned by consent and the cause of action really relied on was that on account stated. In support of their claim of $731.55 due on account stated the plaintiffs put forward the document marked 'A which stated that it was a list of goods not delivered and not paid for, and in that list the compradore—the defendant of this suit -was debited with the amount of $5,100 on account of tin plates. Assuming that that document was an account stated, the account stated appears to $5,100; and I can nowhere see that there is any account stated in regard to any sum of $731.55. I think on that simple ground alone I shall give judgment for the defendant with costs.

THE CHINESE CUSTOMS TARIFF. READJUSTMENT PROPOSALS. The advisability of a reclassification of the staples of import, with a view to equalisation of the Tariff, is well exhibited by a table we publish, below, of the incidence of the present system. It will be seen that, while woollen goods generally, rod iron and lead have to pay duties of from 4 to 11 per cent, over the intended mean Tariff rate of 5 per cent., cottons generally, and especially heavy cottons, and lumber are taxed at a rate considerably under the originally arbitrated rate. the aggregate value of the cotton goods imported amounts in the case, for example, of Shanghai to no less than 28 per cent, of that of the total imports, there is here a considerable increment available without pressing on any one article. In the first place, the fall in silver had actually in many respects benefited the silver-using countries of the Far East, and from this point of view was no argument in favour of an increase in duties. THE ETHICS OF GOLF.

One of the many funny things about golf is that for the most part those who know how to play don't seem to be able to act up to their knowledge, and those who can play don't seem to know how it is done. Every golfer, must have mot the man who is cloquent on the merits of each and every club in his possession, and has a theory as to overy position the player ought to assume in addressing the ball. But when he ceases talking and proposes to give an exhibition of the game he knows so much about, the result is generally lamentable. He himself is not discomfitted; his failure only serves him with a text, and he will be just as eloquent explaining his miss as he was before the event. Of course he is a bore; but the remarkable thing is that it may only be' when he is engaged at this extraordinary game that he shows any of the bore's terriblecharacteristics. It would be easy to men-We tion a dozen well-known men, famous for game. There seem to be two stages in taken up with his own play that he has no interest in any other player but himself. pions, and would travel a hundred miles to watch a good match between two well-known man who had been playing golf for nearly and afore ve die. This was undoubtedly

A man plays golf not only to please himself but to compel the admiration of his opponent. To walk over eighteen holes ance is enough to sicken a saint with the game, which may be royal and ancient but several evil passions. Of course, it is not easy to admire your opponent's play if he to know. It may be partly due to the lonely game, when you come to think of it. Two men start to play a match, and they hardly open their lips, except to swear, for the next two hours and a half. After every shot the player walks to his ball in silence, and he thinks of nothing but his next shot. Accordingly, if he tops i or hits the ground, or draws or slices the ball, he at once looks to see how his opponent has fared; and if that worthy has succeeded in dropping his ball gently on to the putting green, then nothing but original sin. But there is more than this professional, and putted with such extraordinary accuracy that the professional could barely hold his own. After watching a more than usually long and difficult put hold, the professional asked him if after finding the line for the hole he simed at a point near his ball. The gentleman replied that he did not, but that after getting his line he went straight for the hole "Then,' said the professional, suddenly giving way to a blast of fury, 'I thoust ye was a guid puttor, but now I ken ye're

Police Basin at Taim Sha Tsui during the. liant lady players, but the majority of them will never know how properly to hold a club. The evil effects of golf, however, are said to be beginning to show themselves here and there. A girl was once observed by a learned dignitury of the Church hammtering away at her ball in a bunker. After three ineffectual shots she said one word in a clear voice and without any hesitation. The Church dignitary walked away in profound thought. When he rooined his companions he remarked, a propos of nothing: 'It must have been a great relief.' In other ways, however, the debasing influence of the game can be observed. There was a ladies' tournament somewhere, and the ladies were in a state of great excitement. One of them paid a visit to a professional teacher of gulf, who may be allowed to tell the story in his own way. "She was a bonnie player, for I had taught her mysel', d'ye see ; and there's no anither wumnum that could hand a can'le to her if she could age has me to carry her clubs for her. That must be frankly admitted, and it is to the greater prodit of gulfers accordingly that there is not more cheating than there is. Of course, good players nover chest unless it is absolutely necessary, and then it is impossible todetect them. But what a temptation it is to a duffer to cheat at golf is only known to the duffer himself. If he plays much he begins to wear habitually a furtive look, so that even his best friends suspect him of illegal speculations. How few of us are what we seem - especially at golf .- Nation-

RUSSIAN PACIFIC FLEET.

A recent telegram via India gives a misreading of the Russian scheme of naval reinforcements for the Far East. The ships as named therein, and also below, are as will be seen, not an addition, but an aggregate after the reinforcements shall have arrived, -a very different thing indeed. The correct text is as follows:-*St. Petersburg, August 24. -Orders have been given to bring the number of vessels composing the Russian Pacific Fleet up to 24 by the autumn. The squadron will then consist of one line-of-battleship, six first-class, and two second-class craisers.

two torpedo-destroyers, six gunboats, and seven tornedo-boats. The line-of-battle ship is the Imperator Nicolai I. There are at present four firstclass cruisers, the Rurik (10,930), the Admiral Nakhimoff (7781); the Dmitri Donskoi (6000) and the Pamiet Azora (6000). There are therefore two of this class to arrive. although one ship that has been mentioned as destined for the Far East is the Naucrin. really a turret battleship 1000 tons heavier than the Nicbell I. There is at present on the station one second-class cruiser. the Admiral Korniloff, which is said to be getting re-boilered at Vladivostock; consequently one ship of this type is to arrive.

There appears to be something wrong with the list however, because including gubboats, tornedo gun-boats, sloops and gunvessels, the strength is at present greater than that detailed in the telegram. -Singa-

Accounts recently circulated as to mortality and sickness among the staff and workmon much exaggerated. There has been much fever since the beginning of the rains, but the mortality is small and of late there has been much improvement, as the men are getting acclimatised to the cold. Three thousand men are kept at work during the rains, and much progress is being made. It is expected that by December over 20,000 will be at work, and probably, if no as far as Maymyo by the next rainy season.

Some time ago among the signs of the awakening of China we mentioned (sava The Indian and Eastern Engineer) that proposals were being made for an improved nostal service. If the country were opened up to the reception of foreign news and the transmission of information of all kinds, it would be impossible for the people to remain long in a state of intellectual torpor. So vast is China and so imperfect are the means of communicating news that a large proportion of the people have no knowedge of the late war with Japan, and those who have heard of it have very incorrect ideas both of its extent and results. The majority, we understand, believe that it led to a glorious victory to the Chinese and that the despised Japanese had to sue for peace at any price. Such a state of affairs would be impossible if there existed a good postal service. Moreover it would be the means of causing a rapid development of trade and industry in all parts of China which would have a great effect on the social and economic conditions of the country. It will take some time to allow the arrangements to have a fair start, but there can be little doubt that before. lung they will exercise great influence on the social and oconomic condition of Chima.

Mr fart was able to let a little light upon the reasons influencing this man in leaving the institution. The lepers senv to China will of necessity be placed in establishments corresponding in character with the Little Bay Lazaret. This man fancied that it was not loprosy from which he was suffering, and was hopeful that he would recover. He supposed that the disease was theumatism or some similar malady which affected his hands, and pointed to one of his hands, which he said had recovered aince he had been in the institution; and he expressed himself as being confident that the other would also recover if he remained in the same place. He know, he said, that if he went to China he would be sent to the lazaret without having the slightest hope of over coming out again. It was to avoid being sent thither that the man escaped from the institution. The other poor fellows derived much consolation from the fact that they were about to be sent to China. One peculiarity in connection with 213 persons who have passed their 100th the patriotism of a Chinaman, My Tart hirthday. kith and kin, and, failing that, they liked Norway, with 2,000,000 inhabitants, 23. have been sent away and their friends will population, has 410. have the consolation that is to be derived. Brisbane, Aug. 24. With reference to a telegram from Sydney dealing with Chinese lepers sent from the Australian colonies to China re- of my power to take a hopeful or cheerful view cently, your representative was supplied this morning with some further information on the subject by the Home Secretary, Mr Tozer, who stated that the Victorian authorities first found out some time back that there was no objection-to Chinese lepers being sent back to China. There is no dread of the disease in China. All they did there was to take the highest precautions with lapers. Mr Tezer then found out the same thing, and made arrangements with a shipping company on the most satisfactory terms to this colony to take back all our Chinese lepers. Later on New South Wales dropped on the matter, and communicated with the Chinese authorities, terested in the account given in the book of the to son if there would be any difficulty in nature and duties of the liver, and its disorders. landing lepers there. OLDEST MEN IN THE WORLD. The oldest man in the world has been discovered. He is Bruno Cotrim, a negroborn in Africa, and now a resident in Rio Janeiro. The most careful investigation shows that this remarkable colored man has lived to the age of 150, and promises to continue his remarkable exhibition of longevity for an indefinite period. The discovery of this long-lived individual was made by a German statistician, who has prosecuted his investigations with most interesting results. He finds that the closest rival to Cotrim is a retired Moscow cabman named Kustrim, who is in his 140th year. The statistician says the oldest woman in the world is 130 years of age, but probably out of natural courtesy to the sex he refrains from giving her name and address. In diving still further into the life and death statistics of the world, the investigator found it necessary to turn to the least civilized corners of the earth in order to get the longest livers. The German empire, with 55,000,000 population, has but 78 subjects who are more than 100 years old. France, with fewer than 40,000,000, has
